

Guggulu taken with cow's urine conquers that form of nervous disease which is known as Urustarnbha*
 A decoction of Dashamula, Gokshura, Sbunthi, Eranda, Risna and Nagara proves curative in Rheumatism and an aching pain in the limbs. A decoction of ValS, Punarnav^^ Eranda, Vrihati, KantakaVi and Gokshura, taken with castor-oil, subdues even the most vilurent cases of nervous disorders. A solution of common salt, taken vrith asafoetida, proves curative in flatulent colic. An infusion of TriphalU, Nimva, Yashtika, Katuka and A'ragvadha should be given with honey for the alleviation of colic, or of a burning sensation in the body. Triphali-water taken with Yashthikam cures the type of colic known as Parinfma Shula. A lam-bative made of iron-rust purified with cow's urine and Tri*phalli-powder, honey, and clarified butter proves curative !»• all types of Shula (Gastralgia.) A pill consisting of two parts of Trivrit, four parts of Krishna, and five parts of Haritaki, taken with an equal quantity of treacle, removes constipation of the bowels. A compound consisting of powdered Haritaki, Yavakshara, Pippali and Trivrit taken with clarified butter proves curative in Udavarta (tympanites with suppression of the stiool and urine). Pills consisting of Trivrit, powders of Hpritaki and Shya*ma soaked with the expressed juice of Snuhi and then dried in the sun (Bha*vita), and taken with cow's urine, forms the best purgative and cures even the worst cases of A^n£ha. A medicinal Ghritam, duly prepared with a paste of Tryashunam, Triphali, Dhdnya, Vidanga,

Cliavya and Chitrakain, and taken with alkali, proves curative in the V^taja iorm of Gulma. Roots of Nfgaval4 taken with milk, as well as Sauvarchala salt taken- with half as much of Shivr-Ghritam should be regarded as a potent cure for all forms of diseases of the heart. A compound consisting of powdered Kana, Pashdnabheda, Ela and Shilijatu taken with treacle and washings of rice is a potent remedy for all forms of strangury. A decoction of Amrita, NSgara,